

MIGRATION STUDIES PH.D. SUMMER SCHOOL (MISSCHO)

“Connecting shores, crossing boundaries. Current trends on migration research and methodological challenges” 18-21th July, 2022

Institute for Migration Research, University of Granada (Spain)

SCIENTIFIC DIRECTORS

Nieves Ortega Pérez (UGR), Victoria Rodríguez-Rico Roldán (UGR) & Roberta T. Di Rosa (UGR & UNIPA)

COVID-19 Scenario: due to the difficulties and restrictions on international mobility, we will consider alternatives to carry out the summer school online in case the in-site activities were not allowed by the pandemic situation.

SHORT DESCRIPTION

The aim of this Migration Studies Ph.D. Summer School (MISSCHO) 2022 is to provide an intensive program that enhances the research exchanges among the group of universities participating, while thinking about the changes on mobility and communities we are experiencing.

This aims at the following subjects:

1. How trends and migratory itineraries have changed for the last decade in the Euro Mediterranean system.
2. How current social and migratory processes challenge research methods and classical approaches.
3. How political and social actors are responding to new demands and scenarios.

Considering the different topics that the Ph.D. students are developing in their studies, the common concern on methodologies, categories and approaches of analysis will be the main instrumental focus. Therefore, it will be required that students work in teams and prepare presentations to debate on.

MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

The Migration Studies Ph.D. Summer School offers a multi-disciplinary and international approach on migration studies. By nature, the Ph.D. programme on Migration Studies presents a multidisciplinary design with four lines of research in which the candidates are inserted:

1. Social psychology analysis of migration
2. Cultural and gender analysis
3. Legal and socio-political analysis of migration: Welfare State and management of diversity
4. Globalization and human mobility: migration and labour market

This is "one of a kind" programme in Spain involves more than 60 teaching researchers, from different fields (Political Science, Sociology, Law, Geography, History, Economics, Anthropology, among others) working on migration issues as main area of expertise.

The program will include a range of academic activities such as: lectures (opening and closing lectures), academic and social roundtables, a documentary screening as well as PhD. workshops.

LEARNING MODALITIES

In fact, the MIGRANTS Project compels their six Ph.D. students to participate in the summer schools foreseen by the project itself. In consequence, we are expecting the participation of two students from the UGR, but also two doctoral students from the University of Palermo, and other two from the University of Westminster.

In order to obtain a certification, students should attend and participate in (at least) the 80% of the activities developed.
